

We strongly oppose further media consolidation and urge you to retain or even tighten the current ownership rules so that the public will have access to a broader range of views on important issues like war and peace, fiscal and social policies and the environment.